

New Jersey Cooperative Education Association

College Courses for Cooperative Education Certificates

The following colleges offer master's-level courses in career information/occupational guidance that will satisfy one of the two required college courses for the coop certificates. Note that these courses may not be offered every semester:

Caldwell College
PS633 Career Counseling

Centenary College
GPY 586 Career Counseling

The College of New Jersey
COUN 535 Career Counseling and Placement

College of Saint Elizabeth
PSY 643 Career Development and Occupational Opportunities

Kean University
CEd 5975 Career Counseling and Development

Monmouth University
EDL 520 Career Development and Guidance

Rider University
COUN 505 Vocational/Career Development

Rutgers University
15:297:510 Introduction to Vocational Counseling

Seton Hall University
CPSY 6301 Career Development and Information

For those of you living in South Jersey, you will either have to travel to one of the colleges listed above or enroll in a college which offers their course online. The NJDOE does not regulate which colleges offer what courses. We do not and cannot control the fact that there are currently no colleges or universities in southern New Jersey which offer education courses required for the certificates. Please contact the colleges/universities above directly to inquire if they offer their courses on-line. I know that at least a few of them do. We do not have that information here. For a list of websites for the above colleges/universities, visit the following website: <http://www.state.nj.us/highereducation/>

If you have a vocational certificate based on your work experience rather than a college degree, the Department is working on what steps you would take to obtain a cooperative education certificate.

We do not have a list of colleges offering the course on work-based education as of yet.

Anne M. Freeman
Education Development Program Specialist I
Office of Vocational-Technical, Career and Adult Programs
New Jersey Department of Education
E-mail: Anne.Freeman@doe.state.nj.us
Web: <http://www.nj.gov/njded/voc/>